Despicable Attempt to Jeopardize Morality of a Young Girl.

Heartless Mother Is Backed by Women of the Liberty League.

Judge Caruth Lays Down the Law in No Uncertain Terms.

HORRIBLE REVELATIONS IN COURT

The Kentucky Irish American has from its first number been a family newspaper, and its editor has tried always to leave out of its columns even a semblance of the filth that is frequently found in the less circumspect daily journals. Occasionally desperate diseases require heroic remedies, and as a case in point attention is called to the attempt of Mrs. Hattie Nuckles, who on Tuesday last attempted through habeas corpus proceedings to secure the release of her sixteen-year-old daughter, Martha Nuckles, from the Convent of the Sisters of the Good Shepherd.

Over a year ago Martha Nuckles had been placed under the care of these good women, who are doing a noble work. Martha had been found in a disreputable locality and in company with a man of bad character. She, on account of her apparent tender years, was arrested and brought into court. Judge Reuben Buckley, who is not a Catholic, was at that time Judge of the Police Court. He assessed a fine and workhouse sentence, in lieu of which the girl was turned over to the Children's Board of Guardians, who committed her to the care of the Sisters of the Good Shepherd. She has been in that institution more than a year, and as she herself testified, has been well cared for and well treated. Her mother, it seems, at the earnest solicitation of others, undertook to secure her release. Every evidence pointed to the fact that the mother only desired her daughter's release in order that the girl might enter upon a life of shame and that the mother might live through the profits of her daughter's prostitution.

The mother was represented in court by W. T. Burch, the attorney for the Women's Liberty League, an organization akin to the A. P. A. Mr. Burch recently, it will be remembered, got in bad with the Louisville Bar Association on account of questionable transactions in the practice of his profession. Alderman James J. Fitzgerald represented the Sisters. The case was up before Judge Asher G. Caruth, of the Criminal Division of the Jefferson Circuit Court.

The evidence showed that Mrs. Nuckles was the mother of six children, three boys and three girls; that she had caused the boys to be committed to the Louisville Industrial School of Reform; that she had caused her husband to be sent to the penitentiary, where he now is on the charge of committing an unmentionable offense; and that her two elder girls were now living lives of shame. Mrs. Nuckles attempted to prove that her daughter was nineteen years of age and introduced in evidence a copy of the Bible, on one leaf of which was written the alleged date of the birth of her daughter Martha. She declined to state why the dates of the births of the other children were not put down. Mr. Fitzgerald took the book and upon opening it discovered that it was printed in 1899. This was a knockout blow. Mrs. Nuckles then stated that the writing had been done on Tuesday morning. She refused to say whose handwriting it was. During the hearing of the case Mrs. Nuckles and her attorney Burch were given the moral (?) support of Dr. D. T. Smith and several women of the Liberty League. Judge Caruth promptly refused the writ and returned the girl to the care of the Sisters. In passing on the case Judge Caruth said:

"In this case it was shown that the mother of Martha Nuckles had brought into the world six children, three boys and three girls. The boys, on her petition stating that she could not control them, were committed to the School of Reform and are now in that institution. Of the three girls two are prostitutes and inmates of houses of ill-fame. The remaining child, Martha Nuckles, when of tender years, was sent by the mother repeatedly to the places where her other daughters were plying their occupation in the most disreputable quarters of the city to get money from her sisters for the support of the family—the mother thus living on the prostitution of the daughters. One midnight this child Martha was arrested in the 'red-light district,' in company with a man under such circumstances as warranted her detention upon a charge of disorderly conduct. On the trial in the Police Court the extreme penalty of the law for this offense, viz., $20 fine and a bond of $1,000 for twelve months, was fixed. But on the intervention of some charitable citizens, in lieu of this judgment the court committed her to the custody of the Board of Children's Guardians, as under the statute it had a right to do. The Board of Children's Guardians placed her under the care of the Sisters of the Good Shepherd. She is now at St. Xavier's, on Bank street, and well cared for. It is complained that, the mother being a Baptist and the institution in which her daughter is confined being conducted by a Sisterhood of the Roman Catholic church, she should be returned to the mother. The mother has shown herself totally incapable of raising her children in moral courses. This is not a question of religion, but of humanity. This is the only institution in the city devoted to the care and reformation of fallen women, and which places around young girls its protecting walls and prevents them from entering upon lives of shame. All good people of every creed should encourage this great and charitable work. I would be guilty of a crime if I took this young girl away from the control and influence of these good Sisters and gave her to this unworthy mother. I will not do this. The response to this writ is held sufficient and the writ is dismissed."

Judge Caruth is to be commended for the stand he took in this case. He is not a Catholic, nor did he act through the influence of any Catholic or set of Catholics. He acted the part of a humane man who desires to save a fellow creature from moral destruction.

Catholic Business Women's Club Issues Certificates to Members.

The general meeting in the interest of the Catholic Business Women's Club at St. Francis' Hall last Tuesday night brought out a large representation from nearly all the churches in the city. Attorney Thomas Walsh, who presided, announced that the club had been incorporated and was now working under the laws of Kentucky.

Owing to the fact that the Sprague building on Walnut street was still occupied by the Polytechnic Society it was impossible to set a definite time for the public opening of the club. It is the intention to have all necessary alterations made and the house completely furnished and equipped before being thrown open. When this is done due announcement will be made in these columns and through the daily press.

Mrs. Maggie Judge, the President, was present, and with Miss Lizzie Glenn distributed quite a number of membership certificates. It might be well here to repeat that membership is only a dollar a year, which small sum hundreds will contribute to help the worthy enterprise. Membership and subscription books, numbered and sealed, were placed in the hands of ladies from all parts of the city and all who can should join now.

Henceforth the business of the club will be conducted by the officers and the Board of Directors, therefore the general meeting adjourned sine die, after having accomplished all that could have been reasonably expected. The club has started off right, its affairs being in competent hands, and all that remains is to give it the support it deserves.

SPIRITED MEETING.

Hibernians of Limerick Out in Large Numbers This Week.

Not for a long time have the Limerick Hibernians, who largely compose the membership of Division 4, turned out in greater numbers than on last Wednesday night. The meeting was spirited from the moment President Hennessy took the chair until adjournment. Several questions of vital importance were warmly debated and the flow of oratory was interesting, especially to the visitors. Good judgment prevailed, however, and nothing definite will be done until all have had time to duly consider the questions now pending.

The applications of Pat Filben and John Doolan were received, and Lee Osborne and John Fehey were elected to membership. This makes an unusually large class awaiting the degrees of the order, and when all the returns are in the membership will be well on the way to the 300 mark.

Upon motion it was decided to have a general initiation on Wednesday evening, February 25, for which the degree team will make ample preparation. As this will occur within the season of Lent there will be no festivities of any character, but the admission of the new members will be appropriately celebrated some time after Easter. Division 4 is making splendid progress, due to the energy and zeal of its experienced officers, who will always be found true Hibernians.

DEATH OF JOHN L. RAVERTY.

John L. Raverty, Sr., one of the most esteemed citizens of New Albany, died at his home on North Pearl street in that city on Sunday night. He died a victim of paralysis. Mr. Raverty was stricken with this dread ailment on Thanksgiving day, 1901; a few months later a second stroke weakened his condition. He rallied later, but was never restored to health. Wednesday of last week he was stricken the third time and lingered until death came to his relief. The deceased was fifty-nine years old and had lived in New Albany nearly all his life. For several years he served as Township and County Assessor. He also served one term as County Commissioner. He leaves a wife and six children, four sons and two daughters. Mr. Raverty was a member of Holy Trinity Catholic church and of the New Albany branch of the Catholic Knights of America.

James Perry responded to the toast of "Texas with Variations." Mr. Perry displayed great technique, handling his subject like an artist.

The other subjects responded to were as follows: Lawrence Musselman, "Sandstorm;" Joseph Nailey, "A Reckless Drive;" Judge Sam Bolderick, "Prohistoric Presidents;" Will Perry, "Modern Eloquence;" Louis Baker, "Bogus

NEW IRISH POLICY.

Coercion Proclamation Has Been Revoked in Thirteen Districts.

Sir Anthony McDonnell's Boldness to Haughty Lord Ashbourne.

THE PEOPLE ARE MORE HOPEFUL

Irishmen the world over are watching with interest every movement of the United Irish League and the Nationalists in Parliament. The people of the Green Isle were never so united and hopeful as now, and not without reason therefor. The Dublin correspondent of the St. Louis Globe Democrat cables that the Government's revocation of the coercion proclamation in thirteen districts, and the release of a number of coercion prisoners, among whom are several members of Parliament, is considered proof that the Government intends adopting a milder policy toward Ireland. Apparently the Government has found a policy of conciliation will be more effective than a policy of proscription. Agrarian crimes have almost ceased, and people are hopeful that the next session of Parliament will pass a popular and equitable land bill. The new policy of the Government is attributed to the influence of Sir Anthony McDonnell, recently appointed Under Secretary to Ireland. McDonnell made a reputation as administrator in India, and knows Ireland and Irish people. He has the courage of his convictions.

Recently in discussing Ireland with the haughty Lord Ashbourne, Irish Lord Chancellor, he was asked his opinion of the causes of the difficulties in Ireland. McDonnell replied: "Three-quarters of the Irish troubles are caused by officialism." Ashbourne, who is the personalization of Irish "officialism," was almost speechless at McDonnell's heresy. His lordship gasped: "It is extraordinary you should say that to me." McDonnell replied: "Not at all; I have said it to men bigger than you." Ashbourne considered this the climax of absurdity. "Who might he be?" Ashbourne inquired incredulously. "The King," retorted McDonnell. He was well known in London that McDonnell's appointment was asked by the King.

The Government recently forbade the people of Castlebar from using the town hall for political meetings. The people retaliated by declining to vote funds for the maintenance of the hall, which is consequently unlighted, unheated and uncleared. William O'Brien has gone to Castlebar to induce the public to acquiesce in the Government's desires.

GENUINE WELCOME

Given Mr. George Perry Monday Night by Satolli Council.

Satolli Council, Y. M. I., held another good meeting last Monday evening, there being only "standing room" in their large hall. President Harry Colgan called the meeting to order, and in his usual business-like manner conducted the ceremonies. One candidate was announced ready for initiation, who went through the trying ordeal, displaying great fortitude and courage. This young man was Joseph Lenihan. Mr. Lenihan was warmly congratulated on his entrance into the Y. M. I., and the council is also to be congratulated.

The feature of the evening was the entertainment which was given to George Perry, in honor of his arrival home. His entrance into the hall was the signal for a burst of applause. After the regular business was finished the council went into social session with John Coady (railroad magnate and contemporary of J. Pierpont Morgan) in the chair. Chairman Coady called for a rising vote of welcome to Mr. Perry, and in response he thanked the members for their generous welcome. He said he was glad to be back in his old Kentucky home, about which he thought of and longed for, as all good Kentuckians do when they leave their native soil. His eloquence was very touching.

Chairman Coady next called on the Poet Laureate of Satolli, William J. Sullivan, who read one of his characteristic poems, called "Moonbeams," which was something in the nature of a "caricature in words" of the different members present. John Coady told his "ghost story" for the benefit of the new members, the old ones being very familiar with this "oft told but never old story" to Coady.

James Perry responded to the toast of "Texas with Variations." Mr. Perry displayed great technique, handling his subject like an artist.

The other subjects responded to were as follows: Lawrence Musselman, "Sandstorm;" Joseph Nailey, "A Reckless Drive;" Judge Sam Bolderick, "Prohistoric Presidents;" Will Perry, "Modern Eloquence;" Louis Baker, "Bogus Weights;" George Kilcourse, "Fourth and Main;" Joseph Joyce, "Schooners." Short talks were also made by Carl O'Brecht, Sam Joyce, Joe Lenchon, Charles Lauer, John Fehey, Will Ross, Edward Morgan, Will McNamee, Ed Pope, John and Will Harmon, Messrs. Tepe and Moench. The enjoyable session lasted until 11 o'clock.

FAITH AND CHARITY

Were the Great Virtues of Mrs. John H. Whalen.

All that is mortal of the late Mrs. John H. Whalen is at rest in St. Louis cemetery. The funeral cortège that followed her remains from the family residence in the county through the streets of Louisville to the cemetery was one of the largest, if not the very largest, ever seen in the city of Louisville. Sorrowing friends from every part of the city paid the last sad tribute to a noble, charitable woman.

The Rev. Father Cunningham celebrated a solemn mass of requiem for the repose of her soul at the Church of the Holy Cross, of which he is pastor, at 8 o'clock Saturday morning. Mrs. Whalen had been one of the greatest benefactors of that church. At 10 o'clock on the same morning Rev. Father B. A. Cunningham, assisted by the Rev. Father Thomas Yorke, Fathers Bernard and T. Welch conducted the solemn service of the dead according to the ritual of the Catholic church. No greater honor could have been paid a Bishop or priest. These clergymen are all Eastern men, new comers as it were, to Louisville.

Father Cunningham also preached the funeral sermon, dwelling at length upon the faith and the charity of the dead woman. More than 300 floral designs were sent as tributes of friends of the deceased. Rich and poor alike paid honor to a woman who had an abiding faith in God and who gave liberally yet unostentatiously in charity.

An idea of the immense number of floral designs that adorned Mrs. Whalen's grave may be formed from the fact that Mrs. C. B. Thompson, the florist, furnished sixty designs. One of these many handsome floral designs was the gift of the school children of Holy Cross church. This parochial school was in a particular manner indebted to Mrs. Whalen. In fact the reverend pastor and his entire flock were indebted to Mrs. Whalen for many acts of kindness. Before she left for Cleveland she notified Father Cunningham that she had $100 towards paying for the new altar which was to be blessed upon her return.

Several years ago Mrs. Whalen, her husband and her brother-in-law, Col. James P. Whalen, made a tour of Europe. They spent a week in Rome. On returning to America Mrs. Whalen told a Catholic priest of this city:

"I enjoyed no part of my trip as much as my visit to Rome. I enjoyed no part of Rome as much as my visit to St. Peter's church. While the others were seeing the works of art I enjoyed sitting beneath the dome of St. Peter's and thinking, believing that I was in the palace of one unbroken line of Popes from the time of St. Peter to the present day. I sat there daily for hours with the same thought and never felt the time pass. It was heaven to me."

Surely a woman of such faith is now enjoying her eternal reward.

JOINT MEETING

Of Charity Club, Choral Society and Ladies' Auxiliary.

The ladies of the St. Louis Charity Club Auxiliary, the members of the Choral Society and the Charity Club met in joint session Tuesday evening at Bertrand Hall, the Charity Club furnishing a treat of light refreshments to the assistant workers of the two other societies as a slight return for their good work in the entertainments and oyster supper given during the past several months.

Short talks were made by John Coady and Edward Pope, of the Choral Society; by Mrs. J. P. Hannan and Mrs. Schoemann, of the Ladies' Auxiliary, and by M. J. Walsh, Joseph Mortons and John J. Score, of the Charity Club, the keynote of each being that they would continue to use their best efforts in the future, as they have in the past, for the worthy end which they have in view.

After refreshments had been served those present were entertained with piano solos by Miss Everalda Specht and Miss Gertrude Thome, and vocal solos by Mrs. Joseph DeCoursey, Miss Blanche Gordon and the choral quartet, composed of James O'Neill, Ray Flanagan, Allie Flanigan and James Scally. The piano solos of Miss Specht were especially well received and she was encored repeatedly.

The Ladies' Auxiliary have a eucne on hand for next Friday evening, while the Choral Society have begun rehearsals for the "Chimes of Normandy" opera, the date to be announced later.

FATHER PHELAN'S LECTURE.

Very Rev. Father Albert Phelan, C. P., will deliver an address to the members of Trinity Council, Y. M. I., next Monday evening at 8 o'clock. The lecture will be given at Trinity Hall, 718 East Gray street. A large crowd is expected to hear the distinguished orator.

James Perry responded to the toast of "Texas with Variations." Mr. Perry displayed great technique, handling his subject like an artist.

The other subjects responded to were as follows: Lawrence Musselman, "Sandstorm;" Joseph Nailey, "A Reckless Drive;" Judge Sam Bolderick, "Prohistoric Presidents;" Will Perry, "Modern Eloquence;" Louis Baker, "Bogus

ERIN GO BRAGH

Stirring Irish Drama to Be Produced Across the River.

Jeffersonville Hibernians Promise to Give an Enjoyable Entertainment.

Duty of Local Irish-Americans to Give Them Proper Support.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY CELEBRATION

"Erin Go Bragh," a pleasing Irish drama, will be produced by the Hibernian Dramatic Society of Division 1, A. O. H., of Jeffersonville, at Spieth's Theater on the night of Tuesday, March 17, St. Patrick's day. The entertainment will be given under the auspices of the Jeffersonville Division of the Ancient Order of Hibernians. In addition to the drama a pleasing literary and musical program will be given.

The Jeffersonville Division of Hibernians deserves well of the Irish-Americans of Louisville. Louisville Hibernians have never called upon their Jeffersonville brethren and found them wanting. Men like Barney Coll, James B. Dougherty, William Riley, Martin Fogarty, Police Commissioner Jack Murphy, Redmond Stanton, John Kinney, Frank Hogan, Mike Kinney, John G. Cole, William Coyle, Frank Lynch, Thomas O'Hern, Patrick Dixon and others, men of every profession and walk of life, have come to Louisville whenever there was a Hibernian entertainment. The entertainment will be held in the hands of the County Board. It is quite likely, however, that because of inability to secure a large and suitable hall for March 17 the board will not undertake any celebration this year.

Tuesday evening there was a very fair attendance, and as soon as President Tynan got to work the business was dispatched with promptness. One candidate was balloted for, the other business being of routine character. Nothing was done toward the observance of the anniversary of Ireland's patron saint, the entire matter still being in the hands of the County Board. It is quite likely, however, that because of inability to secure a large and suitable hall for March 17 the board will not undertake any celebration this year.

The Kentucky Irish American has been informed that the local divisions will be invited to co-operate with their Jeffersonville brethren. Prominent members have expressed themselves favorably upon this plan, which if carried out will make the celebration the greatest and most successful ever given over the river. While no definite action has been taken, we predict that the suggestion will meet with hearty approval.

WORKING ON RITUAL.

Important Report Ready For the Board of Grand Directors.

At the last Grand Council of the Young Men's Institute Messrs. Harry Swann, George Lantz and James B. Kelly were appointed a special committee to prepare a new ritual for the order. Since that time it has been learned that the Supreme Council has endorsed the action of the Kentucky Jurisdiction and is awaiting the report, with a view of adopting the ritual, if approved by the Board of Grand Directors, for the order throughout the Union.

Chairman Joseph Piazza, of this city, will soon call a meeting of the Board of Grand Directors to hear and consider the report, which is now ready. The meeting will most likely be held at Lexington.

The Grand Board is also expected to name the date and place for holding the next grand convention, which will doubtless go to the Bluegrass capital, as all who have been heard from express a preference for that city.

The grand officers state that the promises made at the last convention have been fulfilled, and the showing that will be made in their annual reports will be very gratifying. Every council in the "Patriots" SHOWN UP.

The Circuit Court case published this week reveals that Louisville's blight, fanatical intolerance, is still extant, though working in secret. It is well that our people, and indeed the general public, should know these things and who are those fanatical plotters against the rights of fellow-citizens, the peace and morals of all, as well as their real purpose and cowardly methods.

These quasi-respectable, professedly sanctified, patriotic, liberty-loving hypocrites and slanderers should have their masks pulled off and their identity given—and we do it, giving their names. In doing so we are not prompted by animus, but that the public may be posted—not only the well informed and tolerant, but especially those who through the false pretenses of these "patriots" are misled into believing their calumnies, joining and aiding them in their mean and disreputable efforts, prompted solely by bigotry. Incredible as it may seem, too many decent and well-meaning people, under misapprehension, approve and support these intolerant organizations.

Our only regret is that all such were not present to hear the evidence, arguments (particularly the blackguardism of Mr. Burch) and decision in this case. It would have opened their eyes as to what company they are keeping, and the low business they are mixed up in.

WARNING NOTE SOUNDED.

Prof. Eliot has startled the public by declaring that "education may exterminate the human race!" That observation and statistics prove that among the collegiate educated people the percentage of marriages is small; that those who marry have few, and frequently no children; that in ten generations educated families will become entirely extinct, only the uneducated classes multiplying normally. All this is evidently true, but is it due wholly to education, or the kind of education? It was not always true, nor is it universally true. Education that tends to deterioration and extinction of the human race is surely baneful, or at least something is wrong about it. It is not the kind of education that develops the good and noble traits, arouses the energy and ambition to the better and higher, improves and elevates mankind—as education has undoubtedly done in centuries past. Is the Professor, in telling this terrible truth, unconsciously or otherwise striking a blow or sounding a note of warning against the boasted non-sectarian education, already bearing such fruit?

AS A REFORM IDEAL.

Among would-be reformers in this country there seems a disposition to hold up England as a model. Whether this is due to English pretense or otherwise does not matter—results do not bear out the claims.

The Magna Charta, Anglo-Saxon liberty and equal rights of man sound well, but as a fact, if not by statute, class rules throughout the British Empire as nowhere else save Russia and China. In legislation the hereditary House of Lords dictates. In government the Minister exercise all but absolute power despite the Sovereign and House of Parliament.

The tariff reformers laud England as perfection, yet the tariffs of the British colonies, requiring imperial approval, are inconsistently discriminating with the one motive to restrict and retain their trade pool has his brooms run out of the market by the low priced convict-made broom. Now the broom manufacturers have organized and will join with the Broom-makers' Union in pushing the union label brooms made by honest labor. Convict labor in competition with free labor enriches the contractor, but is ruinous to free labor and all trade interests. Time and experience proves it, as in the case of brooms.

England has not disappointed expectations or violated her traditions in the Venezuelan issues. After leading her allies in warlike action, blockade and stubborn refusal to modify demands and terms for arbitration, the allies are astounded by discovering that England has thrown them down. While apparently agreeing with Germany and Italy in their demands and urging them to not relent, the English protocol, modified according to American and Venezuelan contention, was submitted to and accepted by Venezuela's representative. Germany and Italy must now crawl down with ill grace and their pro-English feeling shattered. But, then, England always treated her allies like that, which accounts for her having no friends among the nations.

After years of agitation the South Carolina Legislature has passed a law prohibiting the employment of children under ten years of age in mines and factories. It seems incredible in this age and country that a law is needed to keep infants from such labor. But it is so. In most Southern States mere tots are worked at hard labor ten to fourteen hours a day, and all efforts to stop this child murder are resisted. But South Carolina's law, little as it is in the right direction, is the beginning of a better era. The place for children is home and school; their working at heavy labor for long hours is detrimental physically and morally, and the community that tolerates it violates human and divine law, and pays the penalty in disease, pauperism and criminality.

A Texas young woman, of respectable and well to do parents, went to visit relatives in Cleveland, O., but did not reach her destination. En route she met a strolling actor, well dressed and of pleasing manner, who induced her to elope. He was devoted while her money lasted; then he deserted her in Chicago, where she was found penniless and forlorn by detectives. She was shipped to Texas in charge of an express messenger, driven home in a closed carriage, where she was welcomed and for given by her grief-stricken family. With her young life blighted, her family disgraced, doomed to a future of sorrow and ostracism, it were better she had been run over by the train before she met her "ideal."

The wanton murder of young Gegg has aroused indignation, which is not likely to be allayed by the methods resorted to and the results thus far in the trial of his murderer. There is a limit to the forbearance of even a law-abiding people that "shrewd" lawyers would do well to heed in the interest of their clients, if not of themselves. It is the law-abiding people, goaded to frenzy, who dispose of the case, regardless of formalities or technicalities.

Has the limit been reached in France? The National Assembly by a vote of 323 to 215 defeated a proposition to withdraw the Embassy to the Vatican.

ENJOYABLE EVENING PROMISED.

Next Tuesday evening the ladies and gentlemen of St. Philip Neri's church will give a progressive euchre at Music Hall. The game will be called promptly at 8 o'clock, and at 10 o'clock refreshments will be served. Dancing will follow until 11:30 o'clock. The object of the euchre is to raise funds to defray the debt on the parochial school. An enjoyable evening is assured all who attend.

VISIT FROM JOHN J. BARRY.

John J. Barry, the versatile editor of the New Haven Echo, paid a visit to the office of the Kentucky Irish American last Wednesday. John is still wearing his old time smile and never forgets to ask for his friends.

James and Pat Hyland, Martin and Turner McIntyre, John and Tom Callahan, Joe Treager, Frank McMahon and Arthur Cooney.

Among the most enjoyable social events of the past week was the surprise party given Thomas Callahan at the home of his mother, Mrs. P. Callahan, 1232 Zane street. Those present were Misses Maggie Coleman, Nellie Hanley, Agnes Hyland, Bessie Hopt, Dela Swift, Sallie Swift, Ellen Coleman, Mary Coleman, Katie and Bridie Callahan, Katherine Coleman; Messrs. Tom, Charlie and John Callahan, Willie King, Joe Trager, Turner, Martin and Otha McIntyre.

John M. Sullivan, a prominent young business man of Nashville, and Miss Josie Hickey, a charming young lady of the Highlands, were united in matrimony at St. Brigid's church last Tuesday morning. Rev. Father Connelly officiated. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride on Rufus avenue. A number of relatives and friends of the groom from Nashville witnessed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Hickey will make their home in Nashville.

Mr. James E. Duffy, formerly of this city, and Miss Ida MacFarlane will be married at San Antonio, Texas, Monday night. Mr. Duffy was for several years book-keeper for a wholesale house in this city. He was also an active member on Mackin Council, V. M. I. His bride is a charming young woman, whose home was in Chicago. Mr. Duffy met her while she was visiting friends in San Antonio. Cards announcing the approaching marriage were received in this city during the present week.

Miss Leona Arthur, of 2435 St. Xavier street, delightfully entertained in honor of her fifteenth birthday. Those present were Misses May Woods, Edna Woods, Nellie Burke, Jennie Stout, Emma Smith, Blanche Conadeau, Bertha Conadeau, Blanche Gunther, Mollie Hess, Catherine Conadeau, Delta Hoke; Messrs. William Otto, William Woods, William Grunwald, Ralphy Guthrie, Eugene Conadeau, Vincent B. Smith, Jr., Robert Hume, Willie Moon, Sheney Moses, Elijah Saberton, Willie Montgomery, Thomas Easton.

The wedding bells will ring out joyously at St. Cecilia's church Wednesday morning in celebration of the marriage of Patrick Bannon, Jr., and Miss Mattie C. Shelley, who will be united in the holy bonds of wedlock with nuptial high mass at 9 o'clock. Besides Rev. Father Brady other clergymen will assist at the mass. This is one of the season's happiest weddings, and the young people are daily receiving the congratulations of their hosts of friends. The groom is the son of Patrick Bannon, one of our most honored citizens, and a young man who has a great business career before him. Miss Shelley is one of the most popular Catholic young women of the West End, as pretty as she is accomplished, and always a center of attraction in her social circle.

Miss Julia Madden, who will leave this city within the next few days for Chicago, was the guest of honor at a delightful reception given by Mrs. Albert F. Martin at her home, 1119 Campbell street. Features of the evening were many games followed by candy pulling, which were thoroughly enjoyed by the guests, who were afterward seated to a most palatable luncheon, gracefully prepared over by Mrs. Martin. Among those present were Misses Julia Madden, Alice Brown, Lillie Wurtz, Elizabeth Mallon, Florence McShane, Sophia and Mary Barkholz, Annie Brohm, Mary and Annie Feeney, Susie and Nora Conners, Maggie Quill, Katie O'Brien, Mary and Annie Flahive, Maggie Brennan, Mayme Martin; Messrs. James Mallon, Joseph Kelly, Peter Mallon, William Wurtz, Thomas Conners, John Sullivan, Thomas Garvey, Samuel Mason, Frank Martin and Albert F. Martin.

FATHER SHERIDAN BETTER.

The members of St. Michael's congregation are elated over the prospect of again having with them their popular and zealous pastor, Rev. Father John Sheridan. Two weeks ago the good priest was attacked with severe cold and pneumonia was threatened. He went to St. Joseph's Infirmary, and under the tender care of the good Sisters there he has so far recovered as to have hopes of being able to resume his charge tomorrow.

JOLLY TIME AHEAD.

The entertainment and euchre to be given by the Salesmen's Union at Liederkranz Hall next Tuesday night promises to be a delightful and jolly affair. Besides the many handsome prizes there will be much to amuse those present, as the committees have labored hard to make the most successful social event ever given by the union. The gentlemen victors were Barney Ashton and John King. Among those present were Misses Annie, Agnes, Callie and Nonie Nevils, Delia, Mary and Katie Burke,

WASHINGTON'S

Birthday to Be Appropriately
Celebrated by Irish-Americans.

The members of the Irish-American are making rapid progress in their arrangements for the appropriate celebration of Washington's birthday. The entertainment will be given at Liederkranz Hall on the evening of Monday, February 23. A select programme of a musical and literary character is being arranged. A ball will follow the literary entertainment.

A meeting of the various committees will be held in the office of Attorney Thomas P. Walsh in the Equitable building at 8 o'clock tonight. Tickets for the ball are being rapidly disposed of by the members.

IMPROVING.

The many friends of Mrs. Delia Logan, the venerable mother of Mike Logan, for many years a Deputy at the jail, will be glad to know that her condition has greatly improved. Mrs. Logan fell during the late sleepy spell and sustained injuries which caused a feeling of great uneasiness among her wide circle of acquaintances. She is at the home of her son, 2720 Portland avenue.

ACTING MAYER KISTER.

Bowling Green Democrats are highly pleased with the action of Hon. F. L. Kister, who has been filling the Mayor's chair since the death of the Chief Executive of that city. Mayor Kister possesses every qualification necessary for the office, and his many friends in Bowling Green and this city hope to see the honor conferred upon him. He is a staunch Democrat, a practical Catholic and a prominent member of the Young Men's Institute.

CHARITY EUCHRE.

A charity euchre will be given at St. Michael's Hall, 314 Brook street, Monday evening, February 23. Game will be called at 8:30 p. m. Tickets twenty-five cents, and the proceeds will be donated to a charitable purpose. The ladies having the affair in charge guarantee a pleasant evening to those who attend.

FATHER DRURY'S LECTURE.

Rev. Father Edwin Drury, the diocesan missionary, lectured at St. Philip Neri's church last Sunday evening. His subject was "The Catholic Church."

The lecture was an eloquent one and was highly appreciated. Father Drury has been invited to deliver several other lectures at the same church during the holy season of Lent.

SOCIAL EUCHRE.

Division 3, Ancient Order of Hibernians, has arranged to entertain its friends with a social euchre on Monday night. The affair will be held at Hibernian Hall. No charge will be made for admission. Only those who receive tickets from members will be admitted. Eighteen handsome prizes will be awarded. Division 3 always gives enjoyable affairs and this will prove no exception to the rule.

SCALLY ELECTED.

Tom Scally was paid a deserved compliment by the Musicians' Union of this city. Though the organization is largely German the popular Irish musician defeated John Kirkamp for delegate to their national convention by a big majority.

Louisville Conclave, Improved Order of Hibernians, promise their friends an evening of real enjoyment next Tuesday evening at Falls City Hall. The musical and literary exercises embrace unique features and some pleasing surprises.

IRELAND.

Record of the Most Important of the Recent Events Culled From Exchanges.

Patrick McGuire, J. P., was elected Mayor of Sligo.

Drogheda has named Alderman Mc Guinness for its Mayor for this year.

Alderman Edward Fitzgerald was the choice of the Cork corporation for Mayor.

John Curran's name headed the list from which will be chosen the next Sheriff for Waterford.

Alderman P. Hoyne, for the past year Mayor of Kilkenny, was unanimously re-elected for the ensuing year.

The Londonderry corporation has chosen Alderman Marshal Tillie for the chief magistrate for the ensuing year.

Delegates are being selected for the national convention of the United Irish League, which will be held soon after the production of the land bill.

Information has reached Athlone that his Excellency the Lord Lieutenant may spend a considerable time during the early summer among the Shannon lakes.

The Belfast corporation unanimously re-elected Sir Daniel Dixon as Lord Mayor. This is the fifth occasion that the honor has been conferred on Sir Daniel.

At the Manor Hamilton quarter sessions in Leitrim County Court Judge Waters was presented with a pair of white gloves, there being no criminal case to come before him.

Margaret Cronin, an old woman aged about eighty years, was found dead in her room at Killarney recently. Coroner O'Sullivan and a jury found a verdict of death due to old age.

At the statutory meeting of the Clonmel corporation, held in the Town Hall, Alderman Thomas Morrissey was unanimously elected Mayor of the borough in succession to Alderman Condon, M. P.

Another outbreak of scarlet fever was reported from the Clonmel jail, and fears were entertained for the safety of the coercion prisoners. The matter had been kept very secret up to the first of this month.

A serious fire broke out in Mullingar and destroyed the premises of Peter Mullally, licensed publican and baker. The military with their engine were speedily on the scene, but their efforts were futile until a large amount of damage had been done.

Large and enthusiastic meetings under the auspices of the United Irish League were held on Sunday, February 1, at Ballinaghish, Inniscarra and Rosnare. John P. Hayden, William Delaney, D. Sheehan and Eugene Creagh, members of Parliament, made spirited addresses.

Intense excitement prevailed in Waterford in connection with the election of Mayor and the selection of James A. Power has met with general approval.

He is an excellent speaker, a gentleman of great business capabilities, and will no doubt reflect credit on his native city and the high office to which he has been called.

The Labor party of Dublin feel keenly the defeat of Alderman Dowd, who was their candidate for Mayor. At the last meeting of the Dublin Trades Council several speakers adversely criticised the action of the United Irish League throughout the Mayoralty contest, and strongly urged that in future the council stand upon an independent footing.

General regret is felt over the death of John McCarthy, T. C., of Bantry, at the age of sixty-one years of age. Deceased was one of the most respected merchants of the town, and was well known and highly esteemed in West Cork. He was prostrated with illness about two weeks before his death, and from the first little hope of his recovery were entertained.

At the meeting of the Cashel District Council, Michael Slattery presiding, the following resolution was proposed by Patrick Ryan, seconded by Timothy Fahy, and passed unanimously: "That we most emphatically condemn the brutal and barbarous sentence on Martin O'Dwyer, C. C., who is a very delicate Democrat, a practical Catholic and a prominent member of the Young Men's Institute."

One by the clouds and beams fit by, But a mother's dear and fond devotion Shines a pale star in memory's sky.

Oh, her love, how beautiful, how tender,

Oh, her love, how constant and how warm,

Heaven itself with all its cloudless splendor

Shines reflected in a mother's form.

She it is our sorrows ever cheering,

She it is who smiles when we rejoice,

Comforting the stricken and the erring

With the sweetness of her angel voice,

All the airs of paradise about her,

That dear heaven so radiant and fair,

Life would be a wilderness without her,

She our morning and our evening star,

She it is who makes our youth a play time,

Lifts our hearts to radiant dreams above,

Gives the soul its one eternal Maytime,

Lit by fadless roses of her love.

By one name is God's great silence broken,

Sweeter far than that name than any other,

Dearer have no human lips e'er spoken,

Heaven alone can breathe it, it is mother.

as regards prices in nearly all branches of their industry. The Irish farmer was holding his own with English and Scotch competitors, and by energy, ability and zeal he had been making more out of his land than for some years past. He appealed to farmers to grow flax of such a character as would compete satisfactorily with that introduced from Russia and Belgium.

There has just passed away in Macroom an interesting addition to the list of Irish centenarians in the person of Mrs. Ellen Shea. The deceased, who was a native of Carrigainimma, reached the record age of 110 years, and up to a short time before her death she was in full possession of her faculties. The old woman used to relate with great vivacity several episodes in the '98 rebellion and the doings of the Whiteboys in the district. She used to recall with great feeling the harrowing scenes that happened around her in the great famine of '47 and '48.

The worst thunderstorm that memory can remember burst over the town of Skibbereen recently. Hail came down quite suddenly like a shower of pebbles, and immediately followed a flash of lightning seldom equalled, and almost simultaneously thunder that shook the houses. On came another in rapid succession, driving terror into those who were yet awake and those aroused from their slumbers. It transpires that the house of a farmer named Walsh at Lissard was struck violently by the electric fluid and the chimney knocked down and roof swept away. Mrs. Walsh's body is all black and she is in a very serious state.

At the usual January meeting of the Standing Committee of the Roman Catholic Bishops and Archbishops of Ireland, held in Dublin two weeks ago, a resolution was adopted affirming that the holding of a conference between the representatives of the tenant farmers and landowners of Ireland and the Bishops consider to be an event of the best augury for the future welfare of both classes, and earnestly hope that the unanimity of the conference will result, without further delay, in legislation that will settle the land question once for all and give the Irish people of every class a fair opportunity to live in and serve their native land.

A great and destructive fire broke out Sunday morning at Armagh, and before it could be controlled property to the value of over $300,000 was destroyed. It originated at Todd's drapery stores in the center of the city, and owing to the exposed position and the presence of a strong wind the conflagration rapidly spread to the arcade and six adjoining warehouses and shops, all of which were destroyed. The local fire brigade found it impossible to save the block of buildings, and confined their efforts to safeguarding the adjoining houses. In a space of five hours the huge pile had been destroyed, though the burns remained till Monday night. Fortunately no lives were lost, though there were some very narrow escapes.

The Hibernal Rifles of Worcester offered a purse of $75 in gold to the lady selling the largest number of tickets. Miss Marion Barry sold 800 and was awarded the prize.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of St. Paul has grown so large that it was necessary to secure a larger hall. They therefore moved into the new Central Hall occupied by Division 1.

DEATH'S HAND

Laid Upon Sebastian Hubbuch, an Honored Citizen.

Full of years and honor, a credit to the country of his birth and to the land of his adoption, Sebastian Hubbuch, one of our oldest German-American citizens, passed into eternal rest on Friday of last week. He had been ill health for several months and the end was not unexpected. He was fully prepared to die and died the life of a just man.

Mr. Hubbuch was born in Freiberg, Baden, Germany, sixty-nine years ago. When quite a boy his family removed to America and settled in Louisville. He learned the moulder's trade, but in 1873 he engaged in the wall paper business, opening a store on Market street near Eleventh. A few years later his brothers, Joseph, Charles, Otto and Philip, were taken into partnership with him and founded the well known firm of Hubbuch Bros. They prospered from the start. Mr. Hubbuch was known as one of Louisville's most prosperous, generous, useful and public spirited business men. He identified himself with every public movement. His death is a great loss to the community.

He leaves a wife and the following children: Mrs. George Gruber, Mrs. Charles Hollenbach, Mrs. William Winter, Mrs. Joseph Dahlem, Misses Katherine and Alice Hubbuch and John Hubbuch. The deceased was a devout member of St. Anthony's church and was also one of the oldest members of the Knights of St. George. The funeral took place from St. Anthony's church at 9 o'clock Monday morning. A large concourse of friends followed his remains to their last resting place in St. Michael's cemetery. May he rest in peace.

SHORT NEWS NOTES.

Sir Evelyn Wood will be the next Field Marshal of the British Army. He is a consistent Catholic.

The historical Hill of Tara was sold at auction last Thursday for $18,500. The purchaser was a woman whose name was not announced.

The Duke of Tetuan, formerly Spanish Minister for Foreign Affairs, is dead. He passed away at Madrid last Sunday. The Duke was an Irishman in blood.

John T. McDonough, ex-Secretary of State of New York, has accepted the appointment as a Justice of the Supreme Court of the Philippines.

William Duffy, Nationalist member of Parliament for South Galway, and three others who were imprisoned under the coercion act, were released Thursday.

Sir Charles Gavan Duffy, the former Irish leader, man of letters and Prime Minister of Victoria, died last Sunday at Nice, France. He was born at Monaghan, Ireland, in 1816.

The pontifical briefs appointing Rev. Francis Regis Canewin coadjutor to the Bishop of Pittsburgh were received at the Apostolic Delegation, Washington, D. C., last Friday. The appointee is rector of the Cathedral at Pittsburgh.

Rev. Edward A. Kelly, pastor of St. Cecilia church, Chicago, has been offered by Gov. Yates the place on the State Board of Charities made vacant by the resignation of Judge John Gibbons. Father Kelly is expected to accept.

Last Saturday was the twenty-fifth anniversary of the death of Pope Pius IX., and the occasion was appropriately observed at Rome with a Pontifical mass of requiem celebrated by Cardinal Sartori. His Holiness, Leo XIII., gave the absolution and the apostolic benediction, although he was suffering from a slight cold.

Bishop Carroll Council, Knights of Columbus, just organized at Covington, will be instituted tomorrow. The candidates and visiting Knights will attend mass at 10 o'clock in the Cathedral, Twelfth and Madison streets. The initiatory exercises will take place at Odd Fellows' Temple, Seventh and Elm streets, Cincinnati, and at the conclusion of the third degree dinner will be served in the banquet hall of the Temple.

MACAULEY'S.

Herbert Kelcey and Miss Effie Shannon will appear at Macauley's Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights of next week and with a matinee on Wednesday. They will produce William Gillette's great play, "Sherlock Holmes." This production produced favorable criticism in the East and has attracted great audiences.

The sale of seats began on Thursday. Thus far the seats have sold rapidly.

MAUD GONNE

Engaged to Major John McBride, the Boer War Hero.

Their Wedding Announced to Occur Very Soon in Paris.

Life Story of Beautiful Woman Who Espoused Ireland's Cause.

THE BRIDE BECOMES A CATHOLIC

Maud Gonne, the "Irish Joan of Arc," and John McBride, the organizer and leader of the Irish brigade in the Boer war, are soon to be married in Paris. The match is an ideal one, when characters and the history of Major McBride and Miss Gonne are considered. Marriages of this kind do not take place more than once in a century, and hence the engagement of the two Irish enthusiasts—the one a brave soldier, the other a beautiful heiress—is an announcement of unusual interest. Before the marriage can take place, however, certain formalities must be complied with. The gallant Major is a Catholic and his fiancee is a Protestant. Miss Gonne therefore is to join the former church before becoming the wife of the Boer leader. It is understood that for some time past she has been under a course of preparation and instruction at the Carmelite convent at Laval, and that next week she will be formally received into the church at that institution.

Miss Gonne has many warm admirers and friends in London, especially among the home rule section of the Liberal party, who like her as much as the ultra-Unionists hate her. Her great beauty, her youth and the glamor of her wealth, together with her passionate devotion to the cause of Irish liberty, has made her one of the most notable figures of the last quarter of the nineteenth century and the beginning of the twentieth. Miss Gonne inherited the wealth of her father, who was a rich Colonel of a regiment of the British army. She was born in Dublin Castle, and before her conversion to the cause of Ireland she was the pet of the Viceroy set in Dublin society. One day she saw an eviction and the sight so vividly impressed her that thenceforth she swore to live only for the uplifting of the Irish people and the righting of their wrongs.

Miss Gonne, of course, was ostracized by her anti-Irish acquaintances, but for some years she has been the ideal of the people of her adoption. She has made campaigns in half of the countries of Europe, especially France and Belgium. Major McBride lives in Paris. He was one of the conspicuous figures of the Boer war. He organized the redoubtable Irish brigade and fought with Joubert before Ladysmith. It was Major McBride who at the first step of invasion by the Boers over the border of Natal rescued the unbroken enthusiasm of the burgher forces by carrying an Irish flag into British territory and waving it proudly above his head.

MACAULEY'S.

Herbert Kelcey and Miss Effie Shannon will appear at Macauley's Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights of next week and with a matinee on Wednesday. They will produce William Gillette's great play, "Sherlock Holmes." This production produced favorable criticism in the East and has attracted great audiences.

HOPKINS' THEATER.

Della Fox, the pretty little girl with the dainty blonde curl that hangs right down on her forehead, leads the list of attractions that comes to the Hopkins' Theater next week. Besides there will be Al Leach and the three Rosebuds in their schoolroom sketch; the magnetic Nellie Hawthorne; Eckert and Berg; Roberts, Haynes and Roberts; Fox and Foxxie; Chris Lane and the ever pleasing biography.

BUCKINGHAM.

The Jolly Grass Widows will be the next attraction at the Buckingham Theater, beginning with tomorrow's matinee. This aggregation of talent will present the grand spectacular review, "Before the Dawn." In the olio are such well known vaudeville artists as Hofford and Worth, Paulo and Dika, Carrie Fulton, Harry Seeback, Wink and Mack, Burkhardt and Moore, McFarland and Murry, Monroe and Marshal. These will be the usual matinees.
